Racist abuse led to loss of unborn baby

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A FAMILY tormented by racist bullies lost an unborn baby due to the stress it caused.

Pakistani couple Shaun and Afshan Hussain begged Milton Keynes Council to relocate them from Stirling House in West Bletchley.

But yesterday, a day after being told they would not be moved, they went for their first scan only to discover 26-year-old Afshan had miscarried their third child.

The couple has been subjected to racial torment since moving to the area three years ago.

Five weeks ago vandals used black marker pen to scrawl racist comments on their door.

Afshan, who was six weeks pregnant at the time, was scared and became depressed.

Her GP from Whaddon House Surgery wrote to Milton Keynes Council recommending that they were moved.

Dr Amel Garshoum's letter said: "She was upset and concerned about the wellbeing of herself and her baby due to being harrassed anonymously at her home, where graffiti has been written in front of her door. I would appreciate your help in arranging for this lady and her family to relocate to more suitable accommodation."

> She was upset and concerned about the wellbeing of herself and her baby ... I would appreciate your help in arranging for this lady and her family to relocate to more suitable accommodation
> Afshan Hussain's GP, Dr Amel Garshoum

Yesterday doctors told them it was likely Afshan miscarried five or six weeks ago, around the time that the racist vandals struck.

In previous attacks the family has had eggs thrown at their window, a video thrown at their window, and been verbally abused in the street.

Despite getting the maximum number of points in a scoring system that sorts out which tenants can be rehoused, they were told there were no houses.

Warehouse worker Shaun, who was born in England, said: "My wife has been so depressed. I've been telling the council. Now she's resting, she is very very upset. We've lost a child. They could see the sac, but there was no baby."

He added: "I pay my dues, my council tax, my rent, I go to work and I pay National Insurance. Yet six weeks later we are still in the same property. I said before this happened that if my wife lost the baby I would seriously consider taking the council to court. This is complete negligence."

Navrita Atwal, director of the Milton Keynes Racial Equality Council, said: "It is a real tragedy that Mr and Mrs Hussain have lost their baby as a result of the stress suffered due to various forms of racism.

"This kind of act cannot be tolerated by society. The perpetrators must know that any form of racism is an offence and if found guilty they will be punished for their actions.

"The council should not tolerate any kind of racist behaviour or racist activities on or near council estates."

A spokesman for the council said they would look into the matter.

Cracking idea: Birds will stop breeding on top of tower block – as sure as eggs is eggs

Plan hatched to reduce pigeon population

THESE images show unhatched pigeon eggs being replaced with fake porcelain ones in West Bletchley as a form of pest control.

The contraceptive method, revealed by MK NEWS last month, is being tried on top of West Bletchley tower block Mellish Court.

They will not lay more eggs until the ones in their nests have hatched.

Ever since phone masts were installed in the early nineties, residents have been plagued by birds, bird droppings and consequently flies.

The building used to have a self-cleaning roof but the phone mast cables prevent the droppings from being cleaned off in the rain.

Now Vodaphone, which operates a mast from the top of the block, has agreed to pay for nest boxes.

It is estimated that the problem will subside within three years, which is the average lifecycle of a pigeon.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Council said: Vodafone offered to install four, three-berth nesting boxes and place fake eggs inside them.

"We hope that in time this will lead to a natural 'shrinkage' of the pigeon population."

Landlord found cannabis factory in rented house

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A LANDLORD got a shock when he found out his home was being used as a drug farm.

Ade Otukoya, 43, was performing a routine check on a house in Monkston, when he found his tenants had transformed it into high-tech cannabis factory.

Light and sprinkler systems had been installed and ceiling boards had been removed in the three-bedroom home, causing almost £5,000 worth of damage.

He had gone to the house in October after hearing that there had been a fire there several days before. The property still smelt strongly of the drug.

Mr Otukoya said: "They'd taken out ceiling boards, there were lights all over the walls, everything was completely changed. When I went in I thought 'bloody hell'. There was water everywhere.

"They'd changed most of the locks. They seemed like nice peple, they were a family."

He went straight to the police station after making the discovery, and is waiting to talk to them about what happened.

The tenants have disappeared.

Now Mr Otukoya is urging other landlords and city residents to watch out for the signs.

Mr Otukoya added: "We need neighbours to be aware of what to look for. Watch out for fake ID, and people who don't want to go through letting agents."

Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service has warned over the dangers before.

Chief fire officer Damian Smith said: "Colleagues in other parts of the country have had to contend with door and window handles that have been booby-trapped by being wired to the mains.

"The temperature inside the houses may be as high as 40 degrees centigrade and rooms may contain chemicals such as fertiliser and pesticides."

Don't come the old soldier at remembrance event

A WARTIME family came along for the ride when a narrow gauge railway backtracked 90 years on Remembrance Day.

Amanda and Craig Pickard, professional re-enactors of the First and Second World Wars, chose to attend Leighton Buzzard's narrow gauge railway's Armistice Day event on Sunday because of the authentic, vintage engines running there.

Craig, dressed as American First World War soldier, Harry, appeared alongside a restored American locomotive that was used in the trenches.

Wife Amanda, known as Edna, wore a copy of a travelling suit from 1916 which was made for taking journeys on steam trains.

Their children Maisie, four, and Jack, one, also wore retro clothing.

The couple, from Old Stratford, have been using their hobby as an educational tool for seven years – doing tours of schools to teach people more about a bygone age.

"On any other day Craig probably would have been dressed as a British Tommy, but the MoD and veterans get a bit cagey about re-enactment, especially on Remembrance Sunday, so he was an American soldier," said Amanda.

Two face trial in drugs farm case

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

TWO men will face trial following the murder of 60-year-old Doug Belcher in a quiet Bletchley street.

Stephen Lloyd, 33, of Baytree Court, Chesham, and Mahad Ali, 19, from Harrow, pleaded not guilty to murder at Reading Crown Court on Thursday.

Mr Belcher died at the JR2 Hospital in Oxfordshire on April 3 after witnesses saw him fall from the back of his van outside his home in Tweed Drive, Far Bletchley, the previous day.

Following the incident forensic teams searched Mr Belcher's home and found a hidden room containing up to £10,000 of fully cultivated cannabis plants.

After a two-month search for the killer police arrested two brothers and two Somalian teenagers.

Stephen Lloyd and Mahad Ali will face trial in February.

Ali, 19, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to burgle but not guilty to murder.

Stephen Lloyd pleaded not guilty to murder, assisting an offender and conspiracy to burgle.

His brother, Benjamin Lloyd, 29, of the same address, has not yet entered a plea to the same charges.

He will make his plea in February along with Yussef Mire, 18, from Harrow, who is charged with murder and conspiracy to burgle.

Lucky youngsters set to carry the flag for England

THESE lucky young boys will lead out the England team and carry the flag out at the under 21s match at stadiummk on Friday night.

Lewis Martin, 8, of Medeswell, Furzton and 12-year-old Joshua McMillan of Stacey Avenue, Wolverton, get to do the honours after winning an MKNEWS competition.

The vital UEFA European Under-21 Championship Qualifier against Bulgaria is attracting 21,000 fans.

Tickets for stadiummk's first ever England International sold out in double-quick time as supporters scrambled to get a glimpse of Premier League stars such as Arsenal's Theo Walcott, West Ham's Mark Noble and Newcastle defender Steven Taylor.

The boys - who can take a parent with them - will sit in some of the best seats in the house, get a kit to wear on the night plus an England goody bag to take home.

1,400 in record attempt

SIMON says... 'break a world record'.

A world record attempt is taking place at Sir Frank Markham for the largest number of people playing Simon Says at once.

Students, teachers, pupils from local primary schools and community groups are joining forces to take part in the event on Friday.

Even the MK Dons and the MK Lions are taking part.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the current record for the largest number of people playing Simon Says is 1,169.

It was set in Scotland in 2006.

Alex West, of Sir Frank Markham Community School, said: "We have more than 1,400 people planning to take part so we should easily break the world record," said Alex West, of Sir Frank Markham Community School.

"It will be a really fun event and something for the students to always remember."

The challenge, compered by Horizon Radio's 'Thunder Jim' aims to raise money for BBC's Children in Need.

It will begin at approximately 2.15pm on the tennis courts outside the school's Seckloe building.

Local businesses have shown their support with the Hire Centre and Hollywood Music both volunteering their services and equipment on the day.

Mike O'Mahony, headteacher at Sir Frank Markham, said: "This will be a terrific event for our school. It represents the culmination of activities during our enterprise week, and has provided students with the opportunity to develop important enterprise skills that have a strong community focus.

"As well as being great fun, we hope that this challenge will further strengthen the strong links we have with our feeder schools and give the children a sense of pride in what they have achieved."

Appeal date

TWO men jailed after the murder of 18-year-old Rachel Manning will today mount an Appeal Court bid to prove they were victims of a miscarriage of justice.

In 2002 Barri White, of Bletchley, Bucks, was jailed for strangling his girlfriend, Miss Manning, whose disfigured body was found at Woburn Golf Club in 2000. Aged 21 at the time of the killing, White was sentenced to life.

Co-defendant Keith Hyatt, in his 50s, of Bedford, was cleared of murder, but found guilty of perverting the course of justice. He was jailed for five years.

The men's cases have featured on the BBC's Rough Justice programme, which commissioned independent forensic expert, Dr Peter Bull, to look afresh at the case, and they will today attempt to show their convictions were 'unsafe'.

The appeals will be heard by Lord Justice Keene, Mr Justice Jack and Mr Justice Irwin.

Western development just a quick, cheap fix

SIR – I have just returned from the Gallagher exhibition on the proposed MK West development held on Saturday, November 10.

What I have seen and been told today has upset me and made me very angry.

While I do not dispute the fact that more housing has to be built in MK, the way that this urban sprawl of 6,500-plus dwellings has been dumped on the Buckinghamshire landscape is nothing short of criminal.

The whole plan looks like an ill-conceived quick, cheap fix designed appease central government and make Gallagher a lot of money.

In particular I take issue with the road layout and the impact of another 5,000 (my estimate) vehicles will have on it.

The proposed answer to this would seem to be seven sets of traffic lights. How can any right-minded person think for one moment, that this is going to be the answer?

It is extremely difficult to see from the plans provided at the exhibition just where exactly these traffic lights are going to be; perhaps this is intentional so as to avoid too many awkward questions, but it seems extra vehicles will discharge into two existing grid roads – Dansteed Way and Watling Street.

There will be an extra set of traffic lights between Hendrix Drive and the Crownhill roundabout and quite a few more on Watling Street.

I'm told MK Council is going to 'improve' Crownhill roundabout which probably means another set of traffic lights.

The provision for cyclists and pedestrians will be by redway but they will cross the main roads at traffic lights which will bring pedestrians and cyclists into direct contact with other road traffic and is a recipe for tragedy.

What Gallagher and the council seem oblivious to is that Milton Keynes' residents live here because we like it just as it is, it's unique and unlike any other town. We like our grid roads redways, underpasses, our trees and roundabouts and if you're going to develop it do it in keeping with the rest of town.

Put grid roads all the way around it to ease the flow of traffic, keep pedestrians and cyclists away from other traffic by building underpasses or over-bridges and keep traffic lights to a minimum.

One final thing – when I attend an exhibition of something that is going to directly affect my everyday life and I am talking to a representative of a company glibly telling how wonderful it will all be, how there will be no problems and that the grid road and roundabout system is outdated and no longer viable, it would be nice to know that he actually lived in the town and had a vested interest in it, but on his own admission, he didn't.

Black bin bag collection system a load of rubbish

SIR – Re 'Fly-tippers fined' (November 7) – I am glad that I live just over the border in South Northants, where the council is far more forward looking than Milton Keynes Unitary Authority.

We have had our rubbish collected in wheelie bins for more than 10 years.

To have rubbish put out in the street for collection in plastic bags, with all the inherent problems that come from such an exercise is like something out of a Dickens novel.

To then enact legislation which hammers people with high fines because they don't want the smell from such bags in or near the house is completely the wrong way round.

The council should be fined for not providing modern facilities.

There are two choices.

Either budget and supply wheelie bins like most other councils or carry on with the current system but provide two collections a week.

Like most other councillors that we read about these days, Milton Keynes' elected representatives have taken to telling people what they must do or not do, rather than making sure they do what is requested by the electorate.

What's up, doc?

SIR – If you think that our GPs have the last word, forget it.

Their position is being compromised by the Primary Care Trust.

I had some pain which intefered with my ability to walk and drive. My GP referred me to a musculo-skeletal physician who visits her practice monthly.

Our PCT overruled this and said that I must see a physiotherapist.

I complained to the PCT because I thought it wrong that my GP should be treated in such a high-handed way.

I was told that I had been sent to the physiotherapist not for treatment but for them to decide whether the referral should be to a spinal or hip consultant or be treated by the musculo-skeletal physician or a physio.

This cannot be right.

My GP is overruled by someone who knows nothing of my personal circumstances, has never seen or spoken to me and does not have my medical records.

Our GPs are our family doctors, they have always been the link between us and other medical services.

The PCT is undermining the bedrock of the NHS.

Places for people, not cars

SIR – Further to your article last week, entitled: 'Bitter row over city centre parking'.

I am perplexed by the response of the representative of English Partnerships, who states that there are apparently 300 unused standard rate spaces in Block B3 on a typical weekday.

Really? Over the last three days I and a number of my colleagues have driven around the block between 9am and 10am in an attempt to park

You'd be lucky to find a single space in Blocks B2 and B3 together.

EP's representative refers to an underground car park proposed for Block B4, which appears to be part of site designated for the Places for People West End scheme, where there are already questions over the parking provision.

The creation of underground schemes of, say 180 spaces, is laudable, but ineffective, when the scheme to which it relates is likely to create demand for nine or ten times this number.

Guests of the hotels and restaurants in the Hub appear to occupy two rows of spaces on Midsummer and Witan Gate. No wonder the owners of Witan Gate House felt the need to pull up their own personal drawbridge.

EP was successful in creating a multi-story car park for office workers some years ago. Surely, it is not beyond the whit of man to ensure that similar underground and multi-story provision is melded into the planning of the business district.

WAG? I'm not laughing

SIR – I nearly choked on my pina colada when I read last week's MK NEWS.

What century do the nightclub owners who are launching this pathetic WAG card think we are in?

Any woman who has one of these may as well get 'I am thick and I depend on my looks' tattooed on their foreheads.

Why don't they also hand out other cards – make them grey – to let all the other women know that that they are ugly and dull? In fact forget cards, why not paper bags that they can wear on their heads?

I am sure that would be a winner too. This is demeaning to women and surely discriminates against men too?

As far as naff and tacky publicity stunts go this is as imaginative as Wayne Rooney's haircut. The whole idea should be locked away in a stretch limo, along with whoever came up with it, and driven away into the sunset – or at least as far as Essex.

Chris Griffin
Church Street, Wolverton

Out of town

SIR – On page five of last week's paper was the headline: 'Queen happy to visit but don't bank on city status'.

The case for conferring city status on the town of Milton Keynes might be improved if the local press and many of the townsfolk would stop describing the town as if it already had city status.

A million starving

SIR – While the British National media obsesses with The X-Factor, Strictly Come Dancing and the latest bunch of 'stars' selected for I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here, a million Palestinians are slowly starving – and the world is silent.

Congratulations therefore to Dr Phyllis Starkey and other MPs who have signed Early Day Motion 2118 calling on the Government to demand that Israel lift its siege on Gaza.

Please write to your MP, Dr Phyllis Starkey or Mark Lancaster, to demand an end to the siege on Gaza, an end to the Israeli occupation of Palestine and a peace settlement that is fair and just to both Palestinians and Israelis.

‘New’ National Anthem will be sung during the Queen’s visit

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE National Anthem will be rearranged especially for the Queen’s visit to Milton Keynes.

Musicians from across the city will play the new anthem in front of Her Majesty, the Duke of Edinburgh and thousands of local residents inside stadiummk on November 29.

The anthem will be a tribute to Milton Keynes’ innovative outlook according to the event’s executive producer Gavin Anderson.

The controversial step has been approved by The Queen and renowned composer and local legend Sir John Dankworth, who will appear alongside Dame Cleo Laine on the day.

Speaking to MK NEWS on Monday, Gavin said: “We’ve just had permission to be the first town ever to rearrange the National Anthem.

“It’s still the National Anthem but with a twist – we do things differently in Milton Keynes.”

MK NEWS understands that the Queen will arrive by Virgin train before beginning her ‘away day’ with a visit to thehub:mk for an event curated by local historian Dr Michael Synnott, the director of the City Discovery Centre.

Twenty of the city’s potential Olympians will be treated to a private audience with Her Majesty before she enjoys local entertainment and mingles with business people and residents from thehub:mk.

A 25ft round stage will be constructed inside to allow a 360-degree view of proceedings and the Queen will be escorted through the Ramada Encore hotel before walking across the central piazza to unveil a plaque officially opening the venue.

It is expected around 1,500 guests will be present in the hub at the time.

It will be a business-focused event involving organisations such as the Chamber of Commerce and Frontier Estates, with entertainment ranging from the Concrete Cowboys to a Congolese choir.

Celebrity chef Raymond Blanc, who is opening a restaurant at thehub:mk is flying back from the USA to be there.

Midsummer Boulevard will be closed from thehub:mk to Milton Keynes Central railway station so that people can line the road as the Queen rides towards stadium:mk in a glass-backed Bentley.

Nine thousand children will be driven to the MK Dons’ stadium by 200 buses for the show piece.

The Royals will attend an exhibition in the ballroom hosted by 30 members of the MK Council of Voluntary Organisations. Highlights will include a keep fit show by a group of pensioners dancing to R-E-S-P-E-C-T.

Attention will then turn to a spectacular show on the pitch involving 1,300 teenagers dancing and acting, 600 choir singers and a brass band.

Nine thousand youngsters watching the event will not miss any of the action as huge video replay screens will be erected.

Members of the local Territorial Army will provide the guard of honour and the show will finish with Milton Keynes’ own anthem – ‘City of Dreams’.

The Queen, Sovereign Head of the Order of St John, will then open the new St John Ambulance training centre at Greenleys, meeting staff and volunteers. There she will sign a portrait of herself dressed in St John robes which will hang in the centre named after ex-Lord Lieutenant and personal friend, Sir Nigel Mobbs, who died two years ago.

After completing her two-hour trip the Queen will travel to Stowe School to open a new girls’ boarding house.

John Best, MKC chief executive, said: “We want to ensure that Her Majesty sees the very best of Milton Keynes, and that the people who live and work here also get the very best out of the day. Every time that The Queen visits Milton Keynes, Her Majesty no doubt sees major changes here.

“This time she will see some astronomical leaps – not least our stunning new 21st Century stadium.”

Right royal welcome: John Cove, John Moffoot, Paul Marshall, Pete Winkelman, Paul Wheeler and Gavin Anderson getting ready to fly the flag at stadiummk

Concrete cows go on shopping trip

THE world-renowned concrete cows, Milton Keynes' best-loved pieces of art, are on the moove.

The small herd has been temporarily loaned to Midsummer Place Shopping Centre, Milton Keynes, by their owners The Parks Trust.

The five-strong herd will be corralled under the oak tree at the shopping centre in order for a wider audience toenjoy the city's major collection of public art.

Three cows and two calves will take their place at the centre after being loaned by The Parks Trust which takes care of the cows and 4,500 acres of parks and green spaces in Milton Keynes.

Created in 1978 by US artist Liz Leyh, with the help of local schoolchildren, the cows have led a rather adventurous lifestyle having being kidnapped and held to ransom, decapitated by vandals and headlined the Cambridge Folk Festival.

Due to the problems with vandalism and in recognition of the popularity of the cows, The Parks Trust commissioned a second herd of cows to ensure that the city would never be without their beloved mascots. The second set of cows are still currently grazing at Bancroft Park in north Milton Keynes.

David Foster, chief executive of The Parks Trust said: "We're delighted that this set of cows has found a new temporary home.

On the move: The concrete cows coralled under the old oak tree for one long year

Grazing under the oak at Midsummer Place will allow a great number of people to enjoy the city's best-loved pieces of art."

Martin Hindson, centre manager at Midsummer Place said: "This is a fantastic opportunity for the people of Milton Keynes to see one of our most famous and unusual pieces of artwork while they shop.

"We're really excited to be welcoming the cows to the centre and hope they are enjoyed by all who come to see them."

The cows will be on display until November next year.

Youth must pay father and son after assault

A TEENAGER has been ordered to pay £300 to a father and son he attacked in thecentre:mk.

The 17-year-old, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Thursday.

He pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting Dilip Nathwani, 54, and his 13-year-old son, Nishay Dilip Nathwani.

As he walked past Let's Eat on Eagle Walk on September 29, he knocked into the boy before returning to confront him.

He grabbed the boy's arm, asking 'Can I talk to you outside?', before pushing the father to the ground and running away.

Mr Nathwani banged his head on a bench, was knocked unconscious and suffered a fractured elbow.

He was taken to hospital while police examined CCTV stills and identified the offender.

Clare Galo, in mitigation, described the attack as a case of mistaken identity and said her client thought he recognised their faces from an incident three weeks earlier when he was threatened at knife point by two Asian males.

The 17-year-old told the magistrates: "I know it was totally unacceptable. I wanted answers and when the father intervened I had no intention of knocking him to the floor.

"I should have just got on with my life that day."

He was given a 12-month supervision order, meaning he will attend regular meetings with an officer of the Youth Offending Team.

Magistrates ordered him to pay £250 to Dilip Nathwani, £50 to Nishay Dilip Nathwani and costs of £60.

Joined up thinking: An artist's impression of the new devepolment at Xscape in CMK

Wind turbine is set to power Xscape casino

A HUGE wind turbine could be built at the Xscape

The venue has applied for planning permission for its extension including plans for a hotel, casino and more shops.

They also want to build a new multi-storey car park along with a public area and further leisure facilities.

The development plans are said to be aimed at 'a diverse and sophisticated customer'.

Xscape has been consulting with the public, the council and regeneration agency Milton Keynes Partnership regarding the plans.

The application includes a 150ft wind turbine mast and blades which will aim to generate ten per cent of the energy needed to power the development.

The new facilities would join the real snow ski slope, Airkix windtunnel, multi-screen Cineworld cinema, bowling ally, gym and the host of shops, bars and restaurants that are already on offer at the entertainment venue.

PY Gerbeau, chief executive X-Leisure, said: "These development proposals will be a fantastic addition to both Xscape and Milton Keynes.

"We aim to build upon our success over the last seven years and create a platform for even more success in the future.

"Milton Keynes is a great city with lots to offer and our plans will reinforce Xscape's status as the UK's leading leisure and retail destination."

The plans have been formulated in response to the Milton Keynes Development Framework Plan.

Xscape has attracted 25 million visitors since it opened in 2000. This year it has attracted seven million visitors alone.

Shopping centre owners in rethink

THE future face of thecentre:mk is to be reviewed.

The shopping centre originally announced major plans for a £400million development including extra shops, a covered market, restaurants and improved access in 2001.

Developers Hermes Real Estate and Prudential now believe that since then the city centre itself has changed with the advent of other major developments including the Hub, West End and future plans for the Xscape, a review is needed.

The so-called mastervision proposals also hit opposition from some quarters.

Among those are the London-based lobby group 20th Century Society which has called for the centre to be given Grade 2 listed building status and for development to be monitored closely.

Milton Keynes Council granted outline planning permission for thecentre:mk's expansion and enhancement of the shopping centre in the summer 2005.

The first batch of developments which focuses on improvements to the shopping centre building were recently submitted.

Two further batches of applications are due to follow.

Jon Weymouth, development manager for thecentre:mk at PRUPIM said: "We can confirm that the current mastervision proposals for thecentre:mk are being reviewed by the joint owner's, Hermes Real Estate and Prudential, as they look at how best to provide a world-class 21st Century retailing offer in the heart of Milton Keynes.

"The present planning situation, coupled with the fact that the retail industry and the aspirations for Milton Keynes have evolved since the current mastervision proposals were first presented in 2001, is an ideal opportunity to draw breath and review the scheme.

"The redevelopment is a unique opportunity to ensure that we provide Milton Keynes with the scale and quality of retail and mixed-use development it requires and deserves to service its growing community in the coming years.

"The development team assembled at thecentre:mk is one of the most experienced in the country – Hermes and PRUPIM have partnered on some of the most exciting retail projects across the UK including Manchester Arndale, Westfield Derby, Liverpool One, Cribbs Causeway, Festival Place in Basingstoke and Highcross Leicester.

"The review is intended to make best use of the experience we have in the team to ensure we deliver a shopping experience for Milton Keynes that will be one of the best in Europe.

"The owners remain entirely committed to Milton Keynes and want to be a key part of its development into one of the top ten cities in the UK and propose to implement a number of exciting asset management initiatives to revitalise thecentre:mk and provide a more modern, exciting shopping environment at the retail heart of CMK."

Who will deal with your affairs and welfare if you can't? Don't lose your right to choose your Attorney by waiting until its too late.

From the 1st October 2007 the Enduring Power of Attorney (EPA) has been replaced with a revised type of power called a Lasting Power of Attorney (LPA). However, EPAs made prior to 1st October will continue to be valid.

The LPA has now replaced the EPA as one of the most important legal protection mechanisms for your future. Indeed having an LPA in place is just as important as making a Will because it affects you during your lifetime. The benefit of the LPA is that it will allow you and your family the certainty of knowing who will deal with your affairs and personal welfare if you become incapable of making decisions about these things yourself. Moreover, you will have the comfort of knowing that the Attorney dealing with your affairs is the person of your choice and not someone whom the Court chooses to appoint on your behalf.

Unlike the EPA, an LPA will need to be registered with the Court of Protection before it may be used by your attorney (s). A person can make two types of LPA.

A Property and Affairs Lasting Power of Attorney (LPA) allows you to plan ahead by choosing one or more people to make decisions on your behalf regarding your property and financial affairs.

You can appoint a property and affairs Attorney to manage your finances and property whilst you still have capacity as well as when you lack capacity. For example, it may be easier for you to give someone the power to carry out tasks such as paying your bills if you find it difficult to get about. Please note that the document has to be registered before it can be used.

A personal Welfare Lasting Power of Attorney allows you to plan ahead by choosing one or more people to make decisions on your behalf regarding your personal healthcare and welfare.

As you can see the protection offered by an LPA can be invaluable. Please contact us today to see how we can help.

Parents and children protest to save Wolverton Day Nursery in the summer

Council to consult on day nurseries' future

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

PARENTS are being consulted on the future of council-run day nurseries in Milton Keynes.

One of the options is to close the service all together.

The city-wide consultation follows a council cock-up in May when parents using Wolverton Day Nursery were told it would close by October.

Letters were sent out to current and prospective parents telling them that the nursery was to merge with Rowan Day Nursery in Fullers Slade.

But following pressure from parents and MK NEWS, the council did a dramatic U-turn and vowed to keep the nursery open.

It claimed the letters had been sent out by mistake and promised a full consulation would take place.

At the time red-faced council officer John Cove said: "There was a decision made by my colleagues that did not go through the proper process and was incorrectly made.

"It didn't go to cabinet, the cabinet member wasn't involved. It baffles me as much as it baffles you."

Now the council, which runs eight day nurseries in Milton Keynes for children from three months to five-years-old, has sent out questionnaires consulting on the options to cut costs.

Options include closing the service fully, offering the service into the open market to be run by another provider, and maintaining the current service but making changes to reduce costs.

Other suggestions are to develop a consortium to help manage the existing nurseries, or to have different management arrangement for groups of day nurseries such as through children's centres.

The council says there are plenty of childcare places in Milton Keynes due to growth in private, voluntary and independent sectors.

The choices have been developed following an initial review last December.

Staffing costs at council nurseries are higher than private ones due to the council's terms and conditions on employment.

Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member for children and young people, said: "We welcome suggestions and points of view from as many people as possible with an involvement or interest in the day nursery service, to help us make decisions about how the nurseries will be run in the future. "

The consultation runs until November 30. Meetings will take place on today and tomorrow (Thursday) at Rowans Children Centre, Moorfoot Fullers Slade, 7pm.

No bar to centre plans - but no pub to move to

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS for a Lakes Estate pub to be turned into a community centre look to have fallen through.

Community charity Crosslinks, which currently rents a shop on Serpentine Court wanted to move into the nearby London Pride pub.

But now the charity understands another pub group is interested in taking over the London Pride.

Ironically the news comes in the same week that planning permission was given to make the changes.

The Crosslinks Centre offers Internet access, runs a cafe, an over-55s lunch club, the monthly Milton Keynes Physically Disabled Club and a weekly club for young people with learning difficulties.

Its plans for the pub originally included a safe wet house for vulnerable alcoholics in a first floor flat, sparking an outcry from residents.

Before plans went to the council's development control committee last Wednesday, that part was scrapped.

Permission was granted for the flat to be used for offices and meeting rooms.

Keith Silverthorne, Crosslinks manager, said: "We need a more effective and appropriate facility where we can have different groups going on at different times.

"Unfortunately this probably won't happen, it's unlikely.

"I am confident in saying that the premises is expected to change hands in December, and will probably remain as a pub."

London Pride owners Admiral Taverns would not comment on the sale.

The Crosslinks Centre was formed in 2003 by members of the Water Eaton Church Centre to help in the regeneration of their local community.

The charity delivers free emergency food parcels to families in need on the estate in conjunction with the housing office and community support nurses.

It also provides a collection point for Milton Keynes Credit Union and a base for a family conference centre and the Chamber of Commerce.

By moving into the pub it hoped to offer all its services under one roof and extend its facilities.

Arts school students set to star on TV

STUDENTS at a Newport Pagnell arts school are to become stars of the small screen.

Twenty-two students from theatre school, Arts1 School of Performance are to feature in the forthcoming BBC period drama Cranford alongside stars such as Dame Judi Dench, Sir Michael Gambon, Imelda Staunton and Philip Glenister.

The first episode of Cranford will be aired on BBC1 on Sunday at 9pm and run for five weeks and the girls were involved in filming for all five episodes.

James Grimsey from Arts1 School of Performance said: "We are extremely proud of our students, especially because we had such lovely comments about them from the director and actors whilst they were on set.

Even Imelda Staunton commented on the students professionalism, which is a real credit to the school.

The students play charity school pupils in some scenes and maypole dancers in others.

Arts1 has been running in Newport Pagnell for a year and is already full in its older age groups.

Pictured above are some of the girls taking time out from filmimg

100-up for Pac

Oldbrook store joins city centre crime busters

A CRIME initiative has just signed up its 100th member in central Milton Keynes.

The Mace Store on Oldbrook Boulevard enrolled with Partners Against Crime (Pac), which is a scheme uniting businesses, retailers and police against the threat of city crime.

Ali Gillings-Husbands, Pac co-ordinator, said: "The shop is in fact our 100th central Milton Keynes member but we actually have 132 members in total if you include the Bletchley and Kingston members.

"It is also our first member in Oldbrook which is good news as we are keen to increase membership in that area."

The scheme helps businesses to combat shoplifting and teaches shop staff to be more confident in stopping thieves.

There is also a radio system in place whereby shops and businesses purchase a radio and are then able to keep in touch with each other, warning of approaching known criminals.

Neighbourhood specialist officer PC Marc Walters of Thames Valley Police will now carry a Pac radio whenever he is on duty.

To sign up, contact Miss Gillings on ali.gillings@partnersagainstcrime.co.uk

100 not out: Neighbourhood special officer Marc Walters with Ali Gillings-Husbands, Mace Store owner Raj Param and Gail Buckland of Pac

Car park could be new 'garden city'

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

An artist's impression of the proposed West End One development

A NEW housing and retail development is in the pipeline.

West End One is set to comprise around 650 townhouses and apartments, as well as shops and offices.

A planning application is to be submitted to the council imminently.

The modern development has been designed around a 'garden city concept'.

Currently the under-used 2.9ha Witan Gate site is home to a car park and rubble.

The 'garden city' theme involves creating imaginative landscape areas and roof gardens to encourage wildlife.

Green walls with climbing plants are proposed along with a managed communal courtyard, with public art and a play area.

Initial consultations over a proposed glazed glassed tower - to be the tallest building in Milton Keynes - received a mixed response.

Mary Parsons, land and development director for Places for People, said: "The strongest view expressed by people during the consultation - both positively and negatively - is the tower.

"We wanted to create a tower, and we decided it was going to climb up on both sides.

"The tower would be taller than Milton Keynes is used to but it would be green to reflect Milton Keynes' landscape.

"When we put it in front of people they either loved it or hated it. They liked the idea of it being architecturally striking, but felt the glazed glass tower was not necessarily right for the area.

"We are submitting the planning application with dimensions and so on, but we will do a detailed hands-on application."

A new school is to open in the area.

Developer Places for People, on behalf of English Partnerships, is aiming to attract families to an urban oasis in the heart of the city.

It is envisaged that it will start in summer 2008 and be phased over three years.

West End One will become a national example of environmental sustainability by reducing energy usage CO2 emmissions, reducing heat demand by improving insulation and air tightness, and using renewable energy sources. Residents will be able to see how much energy they are using through a 'smart' metering system.

A range of affordable homes will be available for sale and rent.

History diggers' finds identified

FOUND something odd while out walking or digging in the garden? Then come along to the first ever MK Archaeology Day to ask the expert if the object could be part of Milton Keynes 4,000 year old history.

The free Archaeology Day is to be held at Milton Keynes central library by archaeological officers from Milton Keynes Council (MKC) and will feature a series of talks looking at some of the more exciting excavations undertaken over the last ten years.

Local history fieldwork groups and societies will be there with exhibits, as well as an artefact expert from the Portable Antiquities Scheme who will be on hand to identify any finds the public bring in.

The Portable Antiquities Scheme is a voluntary project to record archaeological objects found by members of the public in England and Wales.

Every year many thousands of objects are discovered, many of these by metal-detector users, but also by people whilst out walking, gardening or going about their daily work. Such discoveries offer an important source for understanding our past.

Societies attending include North Bucks Archaeological Society, CLASP and the Upper Nene Archaeological Society.

Nick Crank, council archaeological officer, said: "The heritage of the area is rich and varied stretching from the Prehistoric period through to the Second World War.

"Among the standing monuments are an Iron Age hill fort, Bronze Age burial mounds, castles, medieval moats and monastic earthworks and over one thousand listed buildings.

"We have many sites of special interest such as the Roman villa at Bancroft and the medieval village earthworks at Woughton-on-the-Green and Wolverton"

Many digs in Milton Keynes are funded by developers as the growth of the city continues apace and over the past 10 years, hundreds of projects have been funded in this way.

During this time a Roman cremation cemetery and village was discovered at Broughton and a monumental Bronze Age cemetery was unearthed at Gayhurst as well as the nationally important hoard of Bronze Age gold torcs and bracelets from Monkston which are now in the British Museum.

Also the council's archaeological officers will be available to answer local history questions as well as give advice on how to research the area's history using Milton Keynes Historic Environment Record database.

This database of archaeological sites and investigations within Milton Keynes is a collection of maps, plans, photographs and archaeological reports that can be consulted by archaeologists and individuals undertaking research into the history of the borough.

If you wish to find out more about this event or find out more about local history, contact the council's archaeological officer on 01908 254259 or visit the website at http://www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/archaeology/

The event this Saturday is from 10am to 4pm in the local studies section of the central library.

Optician to hold art exhibition

AN art exhibition has been launched to help raise money for an eye research charity.

Lesley Arkin Optometrist is holding the exhibition and competition at her practice in Stony Stratford from November 30 to December 15.

The aim is to raise funds for Fight for Sight, the largest UK eye research charity.

The exhibition is being held in conjunction with the Stony Stratford Art Society and the Milton Keynes Society of Artists.

Artists from these societies and other artists in the Milton Keynes area are invited to submit paintings on the theme of 'In Focus'.

There will be more than 80 paintings on display throughout the exhibition all of which will be available for sale with 15 per cent of proceeds going to the charity.

"The gift of sight is something most of us take for granted," says Lesley, "and yet every day in the UK at least one child is born blind or becomes blind, and 100 people start to lose their sight. That's why we're organising this event to raise vital funds for research."

The exhibition follows the huge success of her 25th anniversary celebrations last year. It will be opened on November 29 by Tim Searle of Triffic Films, makers of the award-winning topical ITV1 sketch show 2DTV.

During the exhibition members of the public can view the paintings Monday to Friday 9.30am to 5.30pm and Saturday 9.30am to 3.30pm, and vote for their own personal favourite.

Stony Stratford artist, Diana Winkfield, head of art and design at Bury Lawn School, and founder member of the Silbury Group of Artists, will judge the paintings and announce the winners at 3pm on Saturday, December 15. She'll award prizes for artistic ability and interpretation of the theme, and will also present prizes to the top artists from the popular vote.

Prizes include wooden oil and watercolour box sets gifted to Fight for Sight by Winsor & Newton.

Local artist and art tutor Jane Rhodes has also donated a painting to raise additional funds, and there will be various fun activities throughout, including a competition to win a collectible bear.

■ Artists wishing to enter should call Lesley Arkin on MK 567672 for an entry form.

Golden touch: Debenhams workers Hibo Ugds Ayin, Yildiz Bakir and Sara Silva celebrate finding a winning buddha with Anfor Farooque from Buddha Blue

Buddha finders' VIP night

THE first of the four golden Buddhas hidden in Milton Keynes has been found.

Buddha Blue nightclub in the Theatre District is hiding four golden Buddhas somewhere in MK between now and Christmas.

On Thursday last week, Debenhams workers Hibo Ugds Ayin, Yildiz Bakir and Sara Silva were on their lunch break when they spotted the first golden statue under the tree in Midsummer Place.

They followed the instructions set within the statue and contacted Buddha Blue where they received their £100 cash prize.

They were then invited to the venue as VIP guests on Saturday night and given a bottle of champagne.

Club boss Anfor Farooque met the three winners, he said: "This is the first of four Buddhas to have been found so must remind people that there will be three more hidden leading up to Christmas.

"It's been great to see the response from people in Milton Keynes some even stop me in the street wanting to know where the golden Buddha is."

Buddha Blue will give people in Milton Keynes a clue to the next Buddha's location on its new Memogo mobile phone link that is free for anyone to use. To access the link, text 'bblue' to 07800003282 and click on the link where there will be a clue waiting.

Sound check: Members of The Commitments with Lions players Peter Heizer and Shawn Jamison and David Bowen from Carte Blanche Events at stadium:mk

Commited to Christmas

INTERNATIONALLY renowned soul and funk band The Commitments had a soundcheck with a difference on Saturday.

The group was in the city to check out the new arena based at stadiummk.

The venue will soon be home to the MK Lions basketball team and is where the band will be providing the entertainment for Christmas:MK, the spectacular Yuletide parties being organised by Carte Blanche Events.

And to show them what's what, two of the MK Lions – Peter Heizer and Shawn Jamison took them on a tour.

What they weren't expecting was a shell of a building, complete with a mud floor.

"They couldn't believe it, but as true professionals they got out their instruments and hit a few high notes to test out the acoustics," said Christmas:MK party organiser David Bowen.

The band did leave feeling reassured however when David showed them images of how he and his award-winning team will transform the arena into an ultra luxurious venue for the best Christmas parties in town.

For your chance to share in the Christmas:MK experience and be entertained by The Commitments and DJ Trevor Marshall, call 0845 838 1225 or e-mail info@christmasmk.co.uk

Hip hop dance troupe on TV

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE nation will see that Milton Keynes has got talent when a city dance troupe appears on a TV talent show next year.

Ishe from Nemisis

Hip hop dance crew Nemisis has been given an unofficial thumbs-up by the makers of Britain's Got Talent that they will star in the programme.

The eight-member group was spotted by talent scouts and invited to London last Friday to film for the popular ITV show.

Nemisis members Ishe, T, Ally, Samantha and Emmanuel were met by producers in London's Covent Garden where they performed their award-winning set as an audition.

They are the current UK Idance UK hip hop champions and spent most of the day signing autographs for other dance crews at the auditions.

The Troop - managed by city company MKVibe - were even asked for autographs by members of the security team.

Having won the UK hip hop final this year, the crew are now heading to the USA to the World Championships in 2008.

Crew member Ishe said: "This has been one of the biggest years for us and we're so excited and grateful for all the support and opportunities that MKVibe is bringing us.

"One minute we're playing in a pub in Milton Keynes and the next we're being filmed for the opportunity to be seen by millions of people.

"However, our heart is in entertaining people and no place is too big or too small for Nemisis."

The group was founded in 2005, and originally consisted of just three dancers.

Now Ishe and the crew are holding auditions to join their tour.

These will take place at the Bletchley Arms on Saturday between 1 and 3pm.

Ishe added: "We are looking for two girls and two boys to join us and it could mean them coming to America next year and also appearing on Britain's Got Talent."

All applicants will be invited to a free lesson at Madcap Theatre Dance studios over the next couple of weeks and will be given to opportunity to join the official Nemisis Dance School run each Saturday.

Applicants should contact the crew through www.mkvibe.com or Ishe the choreographer on 07766 957130.

'Let there be lights!

WEST Bletchley will be awash with colour and light this weekend.

West Bletchley Council's Winter Festival of Light takes place on Saturday at Bletchley Park with an awe-inspiring procession and jaw-dropping finale show.

The free event, which has been made possible by funding from Arts Council England, features a 45 minute procession starting at Lord Grey School at 6pm and a finale titled Runga Rung, the Colour of Colours.

The celebration and procession embraces the winter light festivals celebrated here and around the world including Diwali, Guy Fawkes Night, Hanukah and Christmas when everyone enjoys music, dance, illuminations and spectacular fireworks.

Local artists, residents and a wide range of community groups have been participating in a programme of workshops and projects over the past weeks, and will showcase their work alongside world-class artists in the procession.

Crowds enjoy the procession at last year's event

Reporter in court

AN ex-police officer, a journalist and a soldier will appear in court tomorrow charged in connection with leaking sensitive information to the media.

Ex-Thames Valley Police officer Jonathan Mark Kearney, 48, from Wadworth Holme, Middleton, Harry Mark Kearney, a 20-year-old soldier from Cambridgeshire and MK Citizen reporter Sally Murrer, 49, of Whipsnade Road, Kensworth, Beds, will appear at Kingston-upon-Thames Magistrates' Court.

Derek Frank Webb, 53, of Harpenden, Hertfordshire, will also appear.

Prescription fraud

A WOMAN was ordered to pay £145 after altering a prescription for painkillers.

Nicole Allen, 34, of Ramsons Avenue, Conniburrow, tampered with the prescription from her doctor to relieve pain from Crohn's Disease.

She changed the prescription to read 12 tablets instead of two but when she presented it at a Boots pharmacy in the city the pharmacist became suspicious and called the doctor.

Allen was arrested and pleaded guilty at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Wednesday.

She was fined £70 and ordered to pay £75 costs.

Man on a mission: Paul Rose above the clouds on Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania

Mountain mission in memory of dad

LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY man has battled the elements to reach the top of the highest mountain in Africa in memory of his father who died of cancer.

Paul Rose, 33, from Ouzel Close, Bletchley climbed Mt Kilimanjaro, in Tanzania, to raise money for Macmillan Cancer Support who looked after his father after he was diagnosed with lung cancer in 2001.

Paul, who works as a team leader at Retail Eyes, in Wicken, set off for his 'Mission Kilimanjaro' trip on October 19.

He covered at least 80km in six days to reach the summit of the 5,894m high mountain, with a friend, Tony McMurray from Towcester.

Paul has been fundraising for Macmillan Cancer Support since his father, George Rose, died five years ago at the age of 74.

In the run-up to climbing the mountain last month, Paul trained by climbing the largest mountain in England, Scafell Pike in the Lake District, in June, by taking part in a 60mile London to Brighton Bike Ride on July 17, and by completing the Three Peaks Challenge climbing the largest mountains in England, Scotland and Wales in September.

But he said this was his biggest challenge yet and a lifetime ambition.

On the fifth day as he, and 10 other Brits and Americans in his team, approached the summit the temperature was below freezing and the air contained less than 50 per cent oxygen.

"This was the most gruelling thing I have ever done," said Paul, "it ook all your energy."

"I cant explain how it felt with the sheer lack of oxygen, however you go beyond it and you just keep moving forward."

Paul reached the summit at 8am that day: "I had seen the sunrise in the morning and was finally at the top. It was truly emotional, I was high above the clouds and looking out over Africa.

"I know my dad would have been proud of me and I had raised an incredible amount for Macmillan Cancer Support."

Paul's aim was initially to raise £1,000, but he has now collected over £11,000 for the charity.

Paul has self-funded his trip so every penny raised will go to Macmillan.

"I remember dad saying so many times 'the Macmillan nurses are like angels'; he thought the world of them," he said.

"They did everything they could for my dad and I will never forget the care and support they gave him".

Paul, who grew up in the Lakes Estate, said he was very close to his father: "He wasn't just my dad, he was my best friend," he added.

"I wish to thank everyone that has donated and supported me throughout my Mission Kilimanjaro campaign."

School pitch kicks off with Dons star

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A DONS player is to be among the first to try out the new playing fields at Hazeley School tomorrow.

Until now, pupils at the school have had to do all their sport on the tennis courts, indoor gyms and at other nearby schools and a local park.

That means no football and no rugby since it opened two years ago.

Don's defender Kieran Murphy will be on hand to help celebrate the new outdoor facility incorporating rugby and football pitches and athletics track.

The new extension to the school has doubled teaching space.

It also brings new purpose-built design labs, workshops and science labs as well as a new drama stufio and IT centre.

Head teacher Iain Denning said: "The pupils are absolutely delighted to have their own playing fields at last. We've been unable to have a single home game of football or rugby since the school opened.

"In fact, I think we were the only school in the country with a rugby team and no grass. This is going to make an enormous difference to the provision of PE in the school.

"We're thrilled that MK Dons are taking part in the official launch. It will be a treat for the pupils to see a professional on 'home' turf."

The IT centre will allow independent learning for 100 children.

The science labs have an important role to play as Hazeley is now bidding to become a Specialist Science College.

To achieve the specialism the school must raise £50,000.

Pupils, parents and teachers have been busy with money spinning events to meet the target.

Mr Denning said: "We feel science has a massive role to play in the future of Milton Keynes.

"It is a key skill for the economic well-being of the city. We are not producing enough scientists in this country and there is a dearth of pupils studying the subject at higher level. With our new science labs we really want to play our part in producing Britain's future scientists."

Hospital bug a factor in OAP's death

C.DIFFICILE infection contributed to the death of an elderly woman at Milton Keynes Hospital, an inquest has heard.

Amy Powell, 87, was admitted to hospital after falling and breaking her left thigh bone at Kents Hill Care Home on September 12.

She had a successful operation on September 14.

Over the next few weeks she developed an infection of the lungs and breathing tubes and was prescribed with antibiotics.

She then contracted c.diff and was treated for a blocked artery.

She died at the hospital on Sunday, October 28.

Dr Prakash Kumar Gupta, from the hospital, said her death was caused by a blocked artery due to her immobility after the fracture.

He said c.diff infection was a contributing factor along with abnormal movements of the heart. He said he was unsure how Mrs Powell contracted the infection: "It is possible it was due to the antibiotics or she caught it from someone else."

Mrs Powell had been living at the care home in Tunbridge Grove, Kents Hill since June 2005.

Coroner's verdict: Mrs Powell died as a result of a pulmonary embolism caused by fracture of the left femur. Contributing factors were c.difficile infection and arterial fibrillation.

Council to tackle domestic violence

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

DOMESTIC violence is being tackled by Milton Keynes Council.

Last week a strategy that aims to reduce the number of city residents suffering emotional or physical abuse at home was approved.

The three-year plan aims to raise awareness of domestic abuse and of its complex nature.

Through education and early intervention with accessible services the council's Community Safety Partnership hopes to encourage violence-free relationships.

In 2006/2007 there were 1,936 domestic violence cases in Milton Keynes.

It has risen year on year since 2003/2004 when there were 1,212 cases.

Experts say the increase in people being confident enough to report it is a positive step.

The number of repeat victims has dropped from 627 in 2005/2006 to 584 in 2006/2007.

Cllr Irene Henderson, cabinet member for social care and chairman of the Community Safety Partnership, said:

Cllr Irene Henderson

"Domestic abuse is widespread and happens in every part of our society.

"It is totally unacceptable.

"We are determined to work with our partners to reduce it in Milton Keynes and to support the victims."

There will be compulsory and voluntary initiatives for perpetrators of domestic violence with the aim of challenging their behaviour and breaking the cycle of abuse.

Community Safety Partnership manager Richard Solly said: "Too many people have suffered in silence from persistent domestic abuse and violence.

"We are determined to work closely with victims offering them every help and support.

"Together with our partners we will do everything we can to deal with this blight on our society."

There will be a winter fayre starting at 1pm on Sunday, December 2 and the service starts at 5pm.

To dedicate a light call 01908 306991 or to decorate a star call 01908 663636.

Touring spud bus visits city schools

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

Children at Falconhurst School, Eaglestone learn about potatoes

A POTATO bus is visiting primary schools all week to teach children about food.

The bus is an educational resource that will teach pupils at five city schools to dig spuds as part of The Potato Story.

It was developed by McCain Foods in response to research by the British Heart Foundation which showed one in three children didn't know chips were made from potatoes.

The curriculum-aligned teaching programme aimed at seven to 11-year-olds sheds light on the potato as it makes its journey from field to fork in the classroom.

The story is brought to life on the bus by a 'farmer' in his field and the 'cook' in her kitchen, making it an interactive learning experience in which children participate.

The purpose-built double decker Routemaster bus is touring schools around the country until the end of the month.

It showcases the best way to grow and harvest potatoes as well as different methods of preparing them to eat

The city schools lucky enough to be receiving a visit are Falconhurst in Eaglestone, Orchard in Springfield, Simpson, Langland in Netherfield and Queen Eleanor Primary School in Galley Hill.

Rod Hudson, head teacher of Falconhurst School, said: "It was a fantastic experience for all the children, they really enjoyed it.

"They were learning things but there was a slide and things, so there was fun along with all the knowledge they acquired."

Nick Vermont, CEO of McCain Foods (GB) Ltd said: "The Potato Story was developed as a vehicle with which to teach children about food provenance and the part potatoes can play in a balanced diet.

"As a food manufacturer passionate about potatoes, we intimately understand the principles of field to fork and all the steps in that chain.

"We're delighted to be able to use our knowledge to help children learn about the origins of their food. We have worked hard to ensure that the programme for schools is both relevant to the curriculum and useful for teachers. We also wanted to make it fun and interactive."

MILTON KEYNES GALLERY

Pascale Marthine Tayou - Plastik Diagnostic

Through his installations, drawings, films and performances, Pascale Marthine Tayou articulates the nomadic existence of his life.

For his first solo exhibition in the UK, Tayou shows a selection of work that questions cultural and national identity and the role of the individual.

As a self-described foreigner and traveller, his work is directly influenced by the drama that he witnesses on the streets and is manifest in the personal artefacts he collects, including train and airline ticket stubs, restaurant and shop receipts.

Two major works in the exhibition, Wall Street and Jpegafrica/Africagift refer directly to Africa and its countries.

The first is a wall-based installation of neon signs and logos of hundreds of national and multi-national companies that permeate the Cameroon landscape.

Jpegafrica/Africagift is made up of every flag of each African country arranged in a large pyramid pile.

Marthine Tayou does not see himself as an African artist however his work is bound up with the cultures and communities of Africa and its identity within the rest of the world.

Rather than seeing the continent as one that is consistently needy, Tayou attempts, to provide a different view of Africa, one that has a people and culture that is valuable.

He is also doing an outside gallery called plastic bags using brightly coloured plastic bags found on location transforming the mundane into the spectacular.

FALLING DOWN
Duran Duran

If it's a new Duran Duran single, chances are it's another comeback single, and guess what, it is.

They're one of those bands that refuses to go away no matter what happens, and do you know what, that's no mean feat.

They've been at the top of the pile, come crashing down a few times, had a number of personnel changes and somehow they've kept going. Fair play to them, I say.

Besides, they must have some sort of aura around them if someone like Justin Timberlake wants to work with four blokes who are old enough to be his dad.

As tunes go, this is OK, but it plods along a bit. Much as I usually loathe guitar solos, when one kicks in towards the end it's actually the most encouraging sign of life in the whole thing.

The daft thing is, even though it could be a bit more uptempo, it still just about managed to hold my interest so they must be doing something right.

SISTER ROSE
Ian Brown

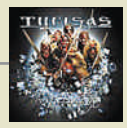
Oh, now this one I do like. When Ian Brown's on form he can create some damned good tunes, and this one's right up there with the best of them.

It starts off with a nice slow strings arrangement for the first 40 seconds, which to be honest threw me completely. I didn't know if this was going to be a heartfelt ballad, a Bond theme wannabe or whether it'd suddenly kick into life.

Well, it does kick into life, but the string section aren't told to pack up and naff off once the band turn up for duty and start contributing. Nope, they're still there and it's their continued presence that helps round out the sound of the song.

Mind you, it's not even as though the song goes mental either, it's all done at a brisk pace, but it's nothing that'll scare the elderly. It's a great tune.

RASPUTIN
Turisas



Just when you think you've heard all there is to hear, a Finnish metal band goes and brings out a fairly faithful cover of one of Boney M's most famous songs. Yup, Boney M as heavy metal icons.

No, I can't quite wrap my head round it either.

Not sure it'd be a good idea to think about that concept for too long to be honest, so let's move onto the song.

Well, even though the original's a nifty little disco number this new take's about twice as fast again, so if you thought it was a mad little tune before this makes the original sound as sedate as a 1970s Open University broadcast.

It's also utterly hilarious, maybe intentionally, maybe not, but how often do you get the chance to hear a metal band screaming 'Ra-Ra-Rasputin, Russia's greatest love machine, it was a shame how he carried on'?

Even the spoken word parts in the middle and end are re-done. It's utterly impossible to hate this song, and I should know because I've tried.

It's stupid, it's pointless, it's completely unnecessary, but it's also thoroughly mental and brilliant.

If songs (and cover versions) as daft as this didn't exist we'd have no option but to invent them, because it's the perfect antidote to the overly serious pop songs that are hanging around the charts these days.

So, Turisas have done Rasputin, Placebo have done Daddy Cool, makes you wonder who's going to take on Brown Girl In The Ring.

BEATCHECK// LIVE

BEATCHECK club night is going live this Friday night with saxophones, bongos, vocals, guitars, MCs and scratch DJs at Revolution.

It is a return to its roots for the night, which originally started life as Beatcheck//LIVE – a dance music night in Brighton five years ago.

Promoter Jason Charles said: "The name Beatcheck actually stems from 'soundcheck' and we used to feature all kinds of live dance acts from samba to drum and bass.

"We've been putting on DJs in MK because of the limitations with venues, but now that Revolution has had a refit, we're going to be experimenting a lot more with live acts."

The first live outing features an improvised set from a stripped-down version of a Brighton hip hop/funk group called Bad Science, backed up by scratch breakbeat act, Slyde.

Anya and Special A, a female DJ and male vocalist duo, will also be on show with MC Special A.

9pm until 2am.

£3 or £4 on the door.

No dress code.

Unmissable, unforgettable theatre

Daniel Weyman as Nicholas Nickleby and David Dawson as Smike

Ben Spiller, artistic director of 1623 Theatre Company, took time off from rehearsing his company's production of Macbeth underground at Poole's Cavern in Buxton to take three of his cast to see Nicholas Nickleby Parts 1 and 2 – coming to MK Theatre at the end of the month

SITTING in a theatre for six hours didn't seem like an inviting prospect, but after the two parts of Chichester Festival Theatre's touring production of Nicholas Nickleby at the Birmingham Hippodrome, my colleagues and I joined the rest of the audience in leaping to our feet to give the 27-strong cast a much-deserved standing ovation.

This really was one of the most thrilling experiences I've ever had in a theatre.

There wasn't a single weak link in the cast, most of whom depicted several characters from Charles Dickens' epic tale of 1830s England.

The story follows Nicholas, left penniless on the death of his father, as he escapes the influence of his villainous uncle Ralph and tyrannical schoolmaster Wackford Squeers.

He stumbles into a theatrical career with the deliciously warm-hearted actor Vincent Crummles, befriends the helpless and falls in love.

Watching both Parts 1 and 2 gave the production a strong sense of soap opera, as characters developed over a period of time.

Using the script and music from the 1970s Royal Shakespeare Company production, the direction of Jonathan Church and Philip Franks was flawless, as were the performances of their multi-talented cast.

The pace was slick, the comedy hilarious, the romance tender and the singing spine-tingling.

Particularly memorable were Daniel Weyman as the thoroughly likeable Nicholas, Zoe Waites as the spoilt brat Fanny Squeers and David Dawson as the heart-string-tugging Smike.

But all cast members contributed to a wonderful sense of ensemble by playing multiple roles with conviction, passion and boundless energy.

Comparing this production to that of the Royal Shakespeare Company in the 1970s, it is clear how much acting styles have changed.

While the RSC production (now available on DVD) was heart-warming and fun, it lacked the three-dimensional approach to characterisation of the current production.

Each character is convincing and fully-rounded in the Chichester production, even though each actor takes on more than one role.

Simon Higlett's set is on two levels and full of doors and balconies which become busy from the outset as actors fill the stage with their vivid and memorable characters.

Nicholas Nickleby is an unforgettable production that deserves to sell out when it comes to Milton Keynes Theatre between November 27 and December 1.

Book your tickets now on 0870 060 6652 for a heart-warming experience.

GARDENLIFE

Get on the right track this winter

WINTER is a great time to go looking for wildlife.

As the trees drop their leaves spotting birds and their nests becomes a little easier, the damp ground records the footprints of small animals and hedgerows offer telltale signs of the food nibbled by recent wild visitors.

Milton Keynes really is a city in the country, 22 million trees and wonderful river valleys, such as the Ouse and Ouzel, provide great corridors of vegetation for wildlife to travel along and find food.

The careful management of this green space means that you have more chance of seeing many types of bird, butterfly, fish and mammals within the city's parks than in the countryside around.

With the help of many volunteers, The Parks Trust creates new habitats and improves those that already exist for wildlife.

Volunteers help to put up nest boxes, seed wildflower meadows, carry out surveys of bats and birds and clear ponds.

Many of the ponds are home to a thriving population of great crested newts, toads and frogs.

Creating wildflower meadows, alongside roads and in the parks, act as a magnet to insects in the summer and a source of bird food in the winter.

There is an impressive list of birds that live and breed in Milton Keynes.

In wooded areas, such as Howe Park or Linford Wood, look out for the green or greater spotted woodpecker and listen for the famous twit-twoo of the tawny owl.

North Willen Lake is one of the region's best birdwatching sites and its bird population swells in winter when immigrant waterfowl arrive to feed on the grass around the lake.

Take binoculars and spot widgeon, great crested grebe or tufted ducks.

Around dusk or early in the morning you might be lucky enough to see a badger or a fox ambling around or hear the strange barking of a muntjac dear.

As well as watching wildlife its also great fun tracking them. Become a wildlife detective and find out which wildlife lives near you.

Look for trails or runs near hedges and under low bushes, if the trail goes close to a wooden or barbed wire fence you may be lucky enough to find animal hairs caught on it

Animal droppings are another way to discover who your neighbours are – but remember to wear gloves if you are handling them.

Hedgehog droppings are black and crinkly and often studded with the remains of beetles; fox droppings may contain fragments of bone.

Look for discarded nutshells – squirrels shatter a nut and leave it in fragments but a woodmouse will gnaw a neat hole and leave toothmarks on the nut's surface.

BLACK HORSE
Wolverton Road, Great Linford

Review by Alicia Babaee

I LOVE the cosy setting of this traditional pub-style restaurant.

On what seemed to be the coldest night of the year so far, we were more than grateful to be seated in front of the open fire that the friendly staff kept stoking for us.

It's the perfect venue for a glass of red wine on a chilly winter's evening, while sampling a few snacks from the 'bar bites' menu.

The English mezze platter (£8) would be ideal to dip into, but on this ocassion we were there to try out the heartier dishes – split into mains, pub favourites, and 'something a bit lighter' meals.

The choice is endless and we spent a good while musing over our options. Eventually we decided on the confit chicken liver pate, rowan berry and apple jelly served with toast (£5) and the grilled king scallops with garlic mash and sun-dried tomatoes (£7.50).

We shared both, and despite the generous portions we wolfed them down in seconds. They were the best starters we've had in a long time.

For the main course I plumped for mussles in a white wine, cream and tarragon sauce (£8) from the extensive specials menu which includes a soup, pie, fish, and light fish of the day. I mopped up my sauce with a portion of rustic breads (£2.50). I highly recommend the raisin and walnut one.

My partner had grilled fresh seabass fillets with roasted peppers, baby potatoes and basil pesto (£14.50) with a portion of vegetables (£1.50).

We shared a lemon posset with shortbread for dessert (£4.50) and the creamy yet tangy taste cleared our palates nicely.

The restaurant also does Sunday roasts from £8.50 and is currently offering a Christmas menu.

A return visit is already in the pipeline.

ONLY 6 WEEKS TO CHRISTMAS

Drop a dress size for Christmas and you could look like this

"I dropped 3 dress sizes in just 6 weeks"

I liked all the wrong foods especially crisps and nuts, and my weight kept creeping up and up. I wasn't happy being a size 18 but crash dieting only made me put on weight.

I had tried a slimming club, but didn't like the group element and their food plans didn't fit in with my social life.

When SureSlim got the results of my blood test, it confirmed that I had high levels of glucose in my system which made me more hungry than I should have been, subsequently I was over-eating. SureSlim then drew up a food plan based on what would work for me. The first week I struggled, wondering how I would cope without milk in my tea, but by week two I wasn't even thinking about it.

I've not just lost the weight either- I've also lost the overwhelming feeling of tiredness that I used to have. I was comfort eating as I was stressed in my job and the weight just crept up. That's when I realized I had to do something. Once I started on the plan to my amazement I lost 10 pounds in the first 10 days!

And now I've reached my goal weight in time for the party season- so I can happily wear my little black dress!

Students' get chance for a dream ticket

A LUCKY student is going to win £5,000 to take their dream holiday in a competition being held by local firm Davis Langdon.

Full-time students are being given the opportunity to match famous landmarks on a map of the world on dedicated website www.mappedout.co.uk.

They must also complete the question 'What famous landmark would you most like to visit and why?'.

The entrant matching the landmark with the correct country in the fastest time and answering the tie-breaker question will win £5,000 in travel vouchers.

Leading project and cost consultancy Davis Langdon has an office in linford Wood.

Kevin Sims from the Milton Keynes office said: "Davis Langdon works on high profile buildings across the globe, many of which will become the landmarks of tomorrow's skyline so it seemed a fitting theme for our competition.

"We welcome entrants from students of all disciplines not just those studying for a construction or property related degree."

The closing date for the competition is March 31 with the winner being notified by 30th April.

Feather in the cap for meat and poultry firm

Phil Marsden of Esca Food Solutions collecting the meat and poultry award

ESCA Food Solutions based in Milton Keynes has received top recognition in the meat and poultry category of the Food Manufacture Annual Excellence Awards.

This year's entries reflected changing priorities over the past year, reporting on issues and developments ranging from category management to new product development, process innovation and environmental management, to some very innovative staff training and staff retention initiatives.

What makes the Food Manufacture Excellence Awards so special and unlike other awards schemes in the sector is that they recognise teamwork – cross-disciplinary and cross-departmental excellence rather than the end product.

Rick Pendrous, editor of Food Manufacture and a member of the judging panel said: "These awards are not about being the biggest in the business, or about having the deepest pockets – they celebrate continuous improvement and the best in UK food manufacture. The awards recognise the unsung heroes who make for successful own-label and branded products."

Awards were made in eight main product categories and from these an overall 'Company of the Year 2007' was selected.

Additional recognition was given for Skills Excellence, Small Company of the Year and the Judges Special Award.

A new award – the Food Manufacture Personality of the Year was introduced to recognise someone who has made a significant contribution to the sector over the last year.

The winner was selected from a shortlist via an online poll on Food Manufacture's website.

Elizabeth takes centre stage at MK Theatre

A NEW chief executive is to take the leading role at Milton Keynes Theatre.

With more than 20 years arts industry experience, Elizabeth Adlington has been chosen to take up the position by MK Theatre owner the Ambassador Theatre Group (ATG).

Mrs Adlington joins the theatre following a career at the Arts Council where she was director of touring and international strategy for seven years.

Before that, she was executive director of the Oxford Stage Company.

Mrs Adlington said: "I am thrilled to be accepting the role of chief executive of Milton Keynes Theatre, in what are certainly exciting times for one of the fastest-growing, most forward-thinking theatre groups in the world.

"Milton Keynes Theatre is one of ATG's premiere venues and I am commited to continuing the success story, offering audiences the very best quality entertainment and first-rate customer service.

"I look forward to joining the team early in the new year."

Mrs Adlington will be taking over the role from current chief executive Rachel Tackley, who is leaving ATG after five years to become the director of English Touring Theatre.

More staff getting on-line and personal

ACCORDING to recent research 43 per cent of Brits would feel outraged if an employer used a social networking site such as Facebook, Bebo and Friends Reunited to look for information about them.

The survey carried out by Manpower revealed that 56 per cent consider such actions unethical.

In contrast, the independent survey reveals that a significant number of people are using social networking sites for work related tasks.

Seventeen per cent use the sites to research potential employers, 10 per cent for networking and generating new business and 17 per cent for other work reasons.

Jason Greaves, director of commercial staffing at Manpower UK said: "The world of work is changing and the explosive growth of social networking sites provides a new way for people to communicate with each other.

"Although the primary use of these sites seems to be for personal reasons, employers and employees alike are now using the sites for work purposes, which can save both time and money."

Although some people (30 per cent) are not worried that their personal information may be accessed by potential employers over the Internet, others are more concerned.

Four in ten of those surveyed have already limited their personal information on-line due to concerns that employers will be able to access information about them.

Sixty four per cent would not be happy to be interviewed on-line or by other virtual means, but this is likely to become more acceptable in the future.

When asked about the world of work in ten years time, 87 per cent of Brits thought that technology will play a bigger role in how people work, 65 per cent said they thought more job interviews would be conducted over the Internet and 78 per cent thought that people would limit their personal information because of concerns that companies will be able to access it.

Jason adds: "It's good to see that people are not only embracing new technology in the workplace but that they recognise that technology will play a bigger role in their career prospecting and development in the future.

"In recognition of this, many companies have an island in Second Life which can be used as a virtual method of interacting with candidates and sharing thought leadership. IWe will be more empowered in our job hunting, recruitment and career development because of virtual worlds and interactive technology."

THE COUNCIL OF THE BOROUGH OF MILTON KEYNES
AMENDMENT TO LEGISLATION THAT CREATES NEW RULES FOR OPERATORS, DRIVERS AND THEIR VEHICLES

Section 75 of the Local Government Misc Provisions Act 1976 has been subject to repeal whereby the 7 day contract element has been taken away with effect from January 2008.

This means that 'Operators', drivers and vehicles that used this element to claim exemption from having to be licensed now need to be 'Licensed' by their Local Authority in which they operate (Applicable to vehicles that carry no more than 8 passengers).

This affects the Operators of Limousines, airport travel, chauffeur services, novelty vehicles, executive hire and park and ride services. Also other areas of services provided on a similar basis that could claim exemption under the 'Contract' criteria. Milton Keynes Council will have to cater for the licensing of such Operators, Drivers and Vehicles.

This new requirement enables the Council to carry out safety checks on vehicles and suitability checks on the drivers they license in the interests of public safety.

The public will feel more secure in the knowledge that businesses are licensed and the drivers have undertaken Criminal Records Bureau vetting by the Council.

The Council are awaiting some further guidance of the process to be adopted from government which they expect to be in receipt of by the end of November.

The Legal obligation is upon the 'Operators' of vehicles that fall within this new criteria to contact Milton Keynes Council, they are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Businesses and drivers who are not properly licensed could face prosecution, with significant fines and costs.

Opposition hit for Mazda6

THE all-new Mazda6 goes on sale at showrooms at the end of the year.

Priced from £15,100 (on-the-road) at launch, customers will be offered a choice of 10 saloon and hatchback petrol engined models, with three powertrains and five equipment levels.

Mark Cameron, marketing director for Mazda UK said: "We are launching the all-new Mazda6 on the back of the momentum of the current car which has seen its market share increase over the last three years.

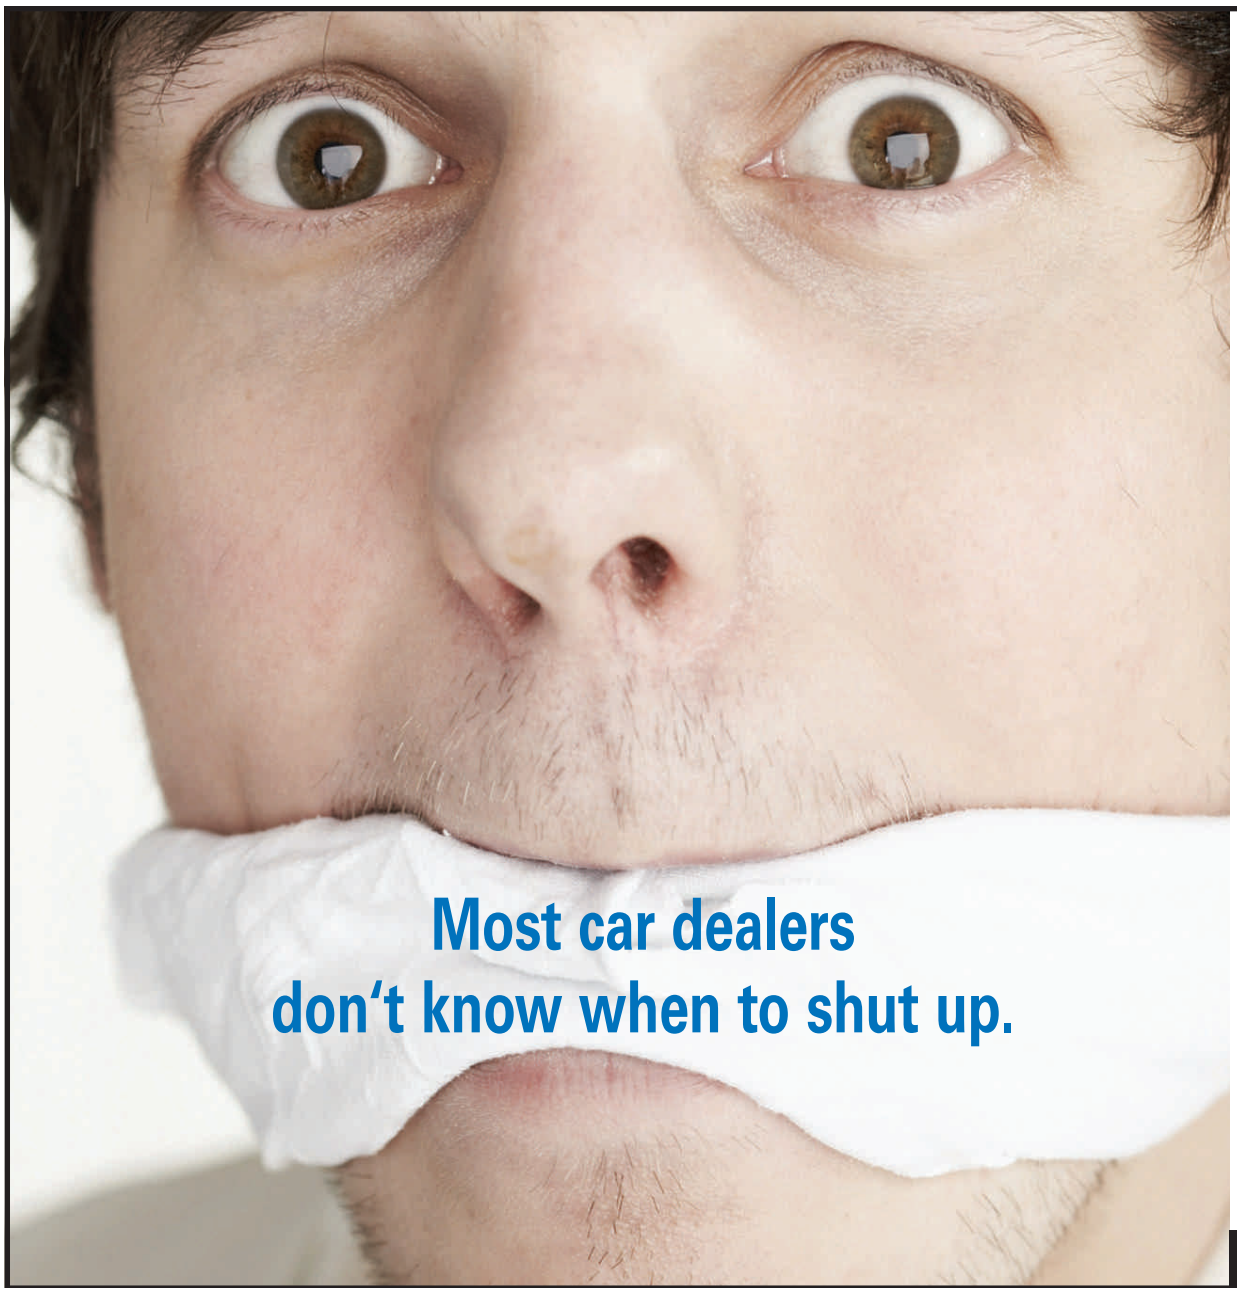
"It will spearhead an increased focus by Mazda on fleet buyers. We expect the new model to be especially attractive to user-choosers looking for something different and anticipate sales in the region of 13,000 to 14,000 cars during 2008 and beyond."

In January, the all-new Mazda6 range will be expanded with the arrival of six diesel models and the line-up will be completed by the addition of nine estate cars in March 2008.

Mazda is reducing the price premium for the estate to just £700 (over the hatchback and similarly priced saloons), and anticipates estate sales could grow to 20 per cent (from the current 12 per cent) thanks to the all-new model's enhanced styling, specification and interior space.

Mr Cameron added: "The all-new Mazda6 has certainly been taken upmarket, but with no loss of agility, thanks to the strict weight control approach taken by our engineers.

"The designers and engineers were tasked with creating a refined C/D-segment car that fully delivered on its visual promise of 'sophisticated fun'. I am confident that the visual sportiness of Mazda6 will carry through to the driving experience and that we have indeed achieved a 'best-in-class' ride, handling and refinement combination."



Buckingham Ford salesmen listen before they speak.

When you visit Buckingham Ford's showroom, you won't have some oily motormouth salesman talking your ears off, pretending to be your friend, pressuring you into buying or making you feel intimidated into making a purchase. Our salesmen don't earn commission; but they, and all our staff, earn the respect of our customers:

"Just to say thank you for all your help. I have always had great customer service from everyone at Buckingham Ford."

Miss K

"Thank you for all the help you have gave me regarding the car, which we both like very much."

Mrs D

So when and only when you need our help, we're ready to assist, in a friendly and courteous manner. We take the time to understand your motoring needs. Whether it's buying a new or used car or booking servicing and repairs, there's no hassle. And if you don't see what you're looking for, we'll do our best to find it for you. You can come in for a test drive with Kevin Church or James Emmitt, or just a coffee and a chat about how Buckingham Ford can ensure you enjoy happy motoring.

PREVIEWS

CHESTER CITY
League Two
Saturday, November 17. KO 3pm
Deva Stadium

TWO high flying teams at the top of their game is a great reason to travel to Chester this weekend.

Bobby Williamson's side have made a strong start to their campaign with an unbeaten run of seven games coming to an end last week at the hands of Bradford - it was their first defeat on the road.

Chester will go into the game full of confidence with the belief they have what it takes to knock the Dons off their perch at the top of the table.

Honours were even last year after losing 2-1 at home to the hands of Chester, the Dons made the trip to Deva Stadium and left with three points following a 3-0 victory.

It is a case of players versus their old clubs this week, with Drewe Broughton facing the side he made 17 appearances for last year and The Blues' Paul Butler will also line up against a not-so-familiar MK Dons side that he spent four months with last season.

Chester will be without the suspended Dean Bennett and Philip Bolland, while the Dons welcome Lloyd Dyer back following his three match ban.

MANAGER Paul Ince says the demands placed on teams in the lower divisions make it necessary to rotate his squad when possible.

Ince made five changes for Saturday's defeat to Crewe in the FA Cup on Saturday as tired legs begin to play their part in a long season. He said: "I think modern football has become a bit like that, especially in the lower leagues.

"We play 46 games a season in the league alone. Added to that you've got the FA Cup, the League Cup, the Johnstone's Paint Trophy so it can be hard for us.

"When you play Saturday, Tuesday, Saturday, Tuesday it's hard on the lads and you can't keep doing it with the same players.

MK Dons Under-18s were knocked out of the FA Youth Cup when they lost 4-3 in a thriller against Brighton and Hove Albion.

The Dons hit the front in the first minute when Stephane Koffi found the back of the net with his volley but a spirited Albion fight-back saw them hit back with three of their own before half time.

Liam Upton grabbed a leveller before he was brought down in the area. Kane Willis scored from the spot.

Kane Louis extended the home side's advantage before the break with a stunning curling free-kick from 25-yards.

David King pulled one back for the Dons, but then goalie Laurie Walker saw red for bringing down Danny Royce in the area.

Willis bagged his second penalty before Liam Kelly replied with a swerving low effort. The Dons kept up their push to level but they were forced to bow out of the competition at the first round.

LAST NIGHT'S ACTION v AFC BOURNEMOUTH

Keith Andrews scores from the spot to make it 1-0

MK DONS v CREWE ALEXANDRA (FA CUP) SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10

Crewe railroad Dons out of cup

MK Dons' FA Cup dreams were shattered at the first stage as they were knocked out by Crewe Alexandra.

The Railway Men grabbed two goals from set pieces, the first coming with three minutes on the clock, and the Dons could only reply through Jemal Johnson's second half penalty.

Throughout the 90 minutes The Dons did not get the rub of the green and were left disappointed at the final whistle.

It was a new-look Dons side with five changes to the side that beat Grimsby midweek. Jemal Johnson and Drewe Broughton were the pair leading attack for the first time and Nathan Abbey getting his chance in goal. Gareth Edds and Kevin Gallen were also in the starting eleven.

The Dons barely had a touch when they fell a goal behind after just three minutes.

It was Chris McCready who headed Crewe into the lead when his strong connection with Billy Jones' free-kick left Abbey stranded between the sticks.

The magic of the FA Cup was missing in the first half as play became scrappy and opportunities were limited for both sides.

One of the better periods for the Dons came with 30 minutes on the clock with Mark Wright whipping in some dangerous crosses from the right but a no-nonsense Crewe defence were quick to collect and run up field.

The ball flies past Nathan Abbey as Neil Cox scores Crewe's winner

Bally Smart had the only first-half shot on target of note for the Dons when he released a fierce strike on the turn which was well saved by Ben Williams.

Minutes before the break Ryan Lowe sent his header from Bryon Moore's cross just over the cross bar.

Gallen, adopting a midfield position for most of the game, almost pulled the Dons back on level terms in the 60th minute. His experience showed when he created a little space at the left of the 18-yard box and blasted his shot narrowly wide of the far post.

But five minutes later the home side had doubled their lead with a carbon copy of their first goal. Jones, this time with a corner, provided a terrific ball for Neil Cox to head home.

However, the Dons were not about to roll over and when Drewe Broughton was brought down in the box by Julien Baudet they had a route back. Johnson was the man to step-up for the Dons and his confident spot-kick sent keeper Williams the wrong way.

The introduction of Aaron Wilbraham and Colin Cameron looked to be the inspiration the Dons needed. Although the pair went close with Wilbraham forcing a save from the keeper four minutes from time and Cameron sending two shots just wide during injury time, they could not grab that much needed second to set up a replay.

LAST NIGHT'S ACTION v AFC BOURNEMOUTH

Dean Lewington gets the better of Jo Kuffour

Celebrations after Keith Andrews' first goal

Fans' favourite signs up for two more years

MK Dons defender Dean Lewington has committed his immediate future to the club by signing a two-year extension to his current contract at stadiummk.

The 23-year-old full-back, whose contract was due to expire in the summer, has put pen to paper on a new deal up to until July 2010.

Lewington made his 200th career appearance in the win over Grimsby and has been an ever-present in the league for Paul Ince's team this season.

A key part of a defensive unit that has kept eight clean sheets already this term, the fans' favourite has played a key role in the Dons' rise to the top of League 2.

He said: "I'm delighted to have signed and hope to play my part in this club's big future.

"We're going where we want to go as a club, I'm enjoying my football and there's nowhere else I want to be at the moment. We're starting to experience the good times here. We have probably the best stadium in this league and the one above and it's a great place to play football."

Battered Lions go second

MK LIONS were left battered at the weekend but came away with two good wins and second place in the league.

The Lions overcame an injury crisis to prevail 74-87 over the Cheshire Jets on Friday.

Terrell Brown was the first casualty after just one minute as he left the floor for 10 minutes with a bloodied nose.

Tony Windless joined him just two minutes into the game with concussion and would not return.

With Kevin Griffin in the USA due to a serious operation on his father, Mike New also returned to the sidelines missing the last ten minutes of the game with a serious cut to his head.

Robert Youngblood still absent meant the Lions saw 31 points from Yorick Williams, right, and a Captains performance from Dru Spinks as they pulled away from the Jets in a controlled performance.

The Everton Tigers came away from Bletchley with nothing to show in their first ever match up against the Lions on Sunday.

A poor first half from the home side allowed the Tigers to hold a 51-56 lead at the break, however a padlock defence in the third holding their visitors to just 10 points built the platform for a Lions win, 90-94.

■ On Friday the Lions entertain Birmingham Panthers, tip off 7.30pm while on Saturday they travel to Leicester Riders.

Lightning backlash bites Tigers

BY ROB GIBSON

TELFORD Tigers felt the backlash as MK Lightning stormed to a comprehensive victory at the weekend.

Following a disappointing result against the Peterborough Phantoms on Saturday the squad could be forgiven for approaching Sunday's match away at Telford with caution.

But after losing 3-5 at Planet Ice player manager Nick Poole lead the Lightning to an astounding 8-0 victory against the Tigers.

On Saturday the Phantoms came out of the blocks quickly, scoring an early goal before the teams exchanged goals in the second to leave the Lightning 4-3 down.

Poole was left fuming at the referee for what he called 'the most bizarre bit of officiating I have ever witnessed' after the referee decided to deny a goal for obstruction.

The Phantoms made it 5-3 before the end.

On Sunday the players were quick to restore the travelling fans' faith at Telford, taking a 5-0 lead by the end of the first.

Goals from Gary Clarke, Ross Bowers, Adam Carr and Clarke again gave the team a comfortable lead.

The Tigers had two goals controversially disallowed and by the end of the second the Lightning had hit seven.

One more goal completed the rout and restored the Lightning's faith in their ability.

The response was testament to the team's mental strength after the Peterborough result and the clean sheet was the icing on the cake.

Coach Poole said: "Sunday saw a very ticked off team take on a much improved Telford side. We went into the game with the right mental attitude and there was some excellent play from all.

"Ross Bowers scored three and that will do him the world of good as he is a player that we need to have scoring regularly. It was a great end to a frustrating weekend."

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL

BY SIMONE CORGAN

INTERNATIONAL football comes to Milton Keynes this week with a host of Premiership stars ready to shine.

It will be a historic day in the new stadiummk as England Under-21s take on Bulgaria in the 2009 UEFA European Under-21 Championship qualifiers, in the first international to be held at the venue.

A sell-out crowd will be in for a treat watching an England side full of promise with players who are already on the fringe of the senior team.

But unlike Steve McLaren's men who have struggled in their group and are now reliant on other results to qualify for Euro 2008, the U21s have got off to a flyer.

Under the guidance of former England defender Stuart Pearce, the U21s have won all four of their group matches without conceding a goal.

On Friday the young Lions will be looking to push further ahead at the top of Group 3 having already beaten Bulgaria on the road.

In that game the 2-0 win came courtesy of midfielders Mark Noble and Tom Huddlestone, but there is plenty of fire power elsewhere with the likes of Theo Walcott, Gabriel Agbonlahor and Matt Derbyshire also hoping to be in the starting eleven.

Football fans in MK were quick to snap up the 21,000 tickets with the game selling out after three weeks, but for all those who did not manage to seal a seat the game will be live on SkySports.

■ ENGLAND take on Bulgaria this Friday at stadiummk, kick-off is at 6pm.

Bournemouth brushed aside

Johnstone's Paint Trophy
Area Quarter Finals

MK Dons brushed aside AFC Bournemouth to progress through to the Johnstone's Paint Trophy area semi-finals.

Two goals in the first half, the opener coming courtesy of the penalty spot, were enough for the Dons to dump their League One opposition out of the cup.

The results adds further to Bournemouth's miserable home record where they have won just once this season, against Walsall in the same competition.

Having been knocked out of the FA Cup three days earlier, the Dons were determined to continue through in the JPT competition with that all important final at Wembley on the horizon.

The Dons were gifted a perfect start when they were awarded a penalty after five minutes.

Shaun Cooper's needless lunge on Jemal Johnson presented the Dons with a spot-kick, their third in as many games, which Keith Andrews had no trouble in slotting home.

It got better for the Dons as they began to make their mark, this time with Danny Swailes netting a goal with a little help from Cooper.

It was good work from the back line that created the chance with Dean Lewington playing the cross into the box for Drissa Diallo to head down onto Swailes whose on-the-turn strike picked up a wicked deflection from Cooper to leave Neil Moss stranded in goal.

Sam Vokes could have pulled one back for the Cherries with their best chance of the half but he dragged Cooper's cross marginally wide of the post. The home side's woes deepened in the final minutes of the first half when a collision between Mark Wright and Moss resulted in the Cherries' goalie being stretchered off field.

Although the ball was there to be won the television replays showed the Dons' winger had caught Moss late with his foot.

On the restart the Dons had to withstand some early pressure with numerous crosses and corners flying into their box.

Brett Pitman tried his luck from long range only to see Andrews charge down his powerful drive.

Bournemouth never gave up their hunt for the goals they would have needed to take the match to straight penalties, but the Dons defence did its best to frustrate while Wright and Johnson were quick to expose weakness down the flanks.

■ The Dons will find out who they face in the semi-finals this Saturday, the draw is live on Soccer AM.
